Who is Dr. John H. Hoagland, C.P.M.?

Dr. John H. Hoagland, C.P.M. has distinguished himself through services and educational contributions to NAPM - Central Michigan, Inc., the Institute for Supply Management, industry, educational institutions, as well as government by advancing the purchasing profession and stressing the importance of purchasing in the business cycle. It is in Dr. Hoagland's honor that the scholarship fund has been founded.

Dr. Hoagland's solid belief in the importance of the purchasing profession has been espoused in his writings and lectures to students, academicians, government and industry managers, and in the establishment of purchasing curricula at Michigan State University, which now graduates more purchasing majors than any other university in the world.

Dr. John H. Hoagland, C.P.M. had been a member of NAPM-CM, Inc. Board of Directors for many years and had served in numerous local committee chair positions. He has also served on the NAPM Professional Journal Committee and helped institute the Journal of Purchasing and Materials Management. His Business Survey of leading indicators of business and economic trends was published in the N.A.P.A. Bulletin for over a decade.

Dr. Hoagland has received numerous awards and honors, including the ISM J. Shipman Gold Medal Award, 1989; the NAPM Professorship, 1985; Garneir-Themoir Gold Medal - International Federation of Purchasing and Materials Management, 1985; Paul Harris Fellow - Rotary International, 1985; the Homer Hauger Award – NAPM - Central Michigan, Inc., 1982; Robert Angell Award – NAPM - Central Michigan, Inc., 1981; and Certified Purchasing Manager (C.P.M.), 1975.

Well over twenty years ago, in conjunction with NAPM - Central Michigan, Inc., he originated the Michigan Purchasing Conference held annually and that now continues as the Central Michigan Purchasing Conference. It is the success of this conference that allows this scholarship fund to be a reality.

“Dr. Hoagland’s dedication to the purchasing profession is unparalleled. His knowledge, passion, unabashed pride in his profession and humor combine to formulate the prototype of the consummated purchasing profession.” – David J. Hoover, C.P.M.
